PRINCE EDWARD ISLAND

CARRIES REPRESENTATION CASE TO ENGLAND

The Island Objects to Its Representation in House of Commons Being Reduced—Cabinet Meetings.

(Bulletin Special Dispatch).

Ottawa, Nov. 25.—Hon. Chas. Fitzpatrick, Minister of Justice, leaves for England shortly in connection with the case of Prince Edward Island against the Dominion regarding the reduction of the representation of that province in the House of Commons. The Redistribution Bill reduced the representation from five to four. The province holds that there should be no decrease. It contended it was entitled to six members the same as at Confederation.

The case was submitted to the Supreme Court. This court held that the Redistribution Bill making the reduction was constitutional.

The appeal is being taken to the judicial committee of the Privy Council and Fitzpatrick goes to appear on behalf of the Dominion Government.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier leaves for Quebec to-morrow and will return on Saturday. There will be some important meetings of the Cabinet next week.

A MORNING WEDDING

This morning the marriage of Mr. Leon Hooper and Miss Florence Paget took place at the residence of the bride's mother on Jasper avenue. Rev. Father Jan officiated. Miss Nora Kelly, niece of the bride, acted as bridesmaid, and Mr. Boothby, one of the groomsmen. The bride was given away by her brother-in-law, Mr. G. E. Grogan. After the wedding breakfast, which was a most pleasant occasion, the happy couple left for their new home in Fort Saskatchewan. Many handsome presents showed the good wishes of the numerous friends of the bride. The groom is a son of W. H. Hooper, real estate agent of Edmonton, and formerly of Manitoba. Although the bride had not the good fortune to be born in Edmonton, she has grown here, and is followed by the very best wishes of all her new home.

TWICE A DAY SERVICE

The marked increase in the passenger traffic on the C. & E. railway, resulting from the filling up of the country along the line, and especially from the immense population spread out in all directions from Edmonton, naturally brings up the subject of increased and improved passenger accommodation. The present daily daylight service is very satisfactory as far as it goes. The coaches are comfortable, although the time to Calgary might very well be cut down, especially in view of the improved roadbed. The hours of departure and arrival at both ends are so convenient that the length of time actually on the road is not felt as a serious drawback. The traffic now calls for the use of three coaches each way daily except Sunday. This means a very large and remunerative traffic, and indicates that the country has arrived at a stage in which further and improved facilities would result in further increase of business for the railway and for the district as well.

Calgary is on the main line. Edmonton is at the terminus of a two hundred mile branch. Both are important places and have a very large interchange of business. All travel reaching Edmonton by train, must pass through Calgary, and all direct travel between coast and coast in Canada must also pass through Calgary. The main line trains cross at Calgary shortly after midnight. A traveller desiring to visit Edmonton leaves the main line train at Calgary at, say one o'clock, a.m., and remains in Calgary until 8:30 in the morning. He then takes the train for Edmonton and arrives here at 6 p.m. If he has any business he must remain a day and two nights. He reaches Calgary on his return on the evening of the third day after leaving, and takes the main line train again at 1 a.m., going either east or west. He has spent three days and practically four nights. He has been in Edmonton only one day during business hours, and not at all in Calgary. If he wants to do any business in Calgary, that will mean another day. While business was growing that was the best that could be expected, and indeed at the start was very good; but with the growth of business to its present proportions, it is distinctly not up-to-date.

The busy man, the man of large interests, is the man that this country now needs; in Edmonton, in Calgary, and all along the line. Such men are not used to spending three days to move in a small town. They are more likely to grudge half a day to see a large city. And the commercial travellers, of whom such myriads are continually on the road, would save many thousands to their employers, and, therefore, to the business men of the country, if the time required to do business at both ends and along the C. & E. line could be shortened. That the railway company would find a large and profitable increase in their traffic if the two days lost in time in reaching Edmonton could be cut out, goes without saying.

The Bulletin's suggestion is that of the many freight trains which the increase of business compels to be sent to Edmonton, one each day each way, be operated on regular time, say eight or nine o'clock in the evening, to reach its destination at say eight o'clock on the following morning. A sleeper or combination sleeper and baggage car attached would enable travellers, commercial and others, to spend a day in Edmonton, at the loss of only that day; or they could have two days in Calgary and one in Edmonton in the same time that is now spent in doing Edmonton. Or again, if the Macleod train continued to run on its present time, they could give a day to Edmonton, a day to Calgary and half a day to Macleod in the same time as they now lose in giving a day to Edmonton. Or again, travellers bound for Fernie, Nelson, and other Kootenay points by the Crow's Nest line, would have a full business day in reaching Macleod where connection is made with the Crow's Nest Railway, as compared with present conditions.

The advantage in interchange of business between towns along the line from the operation of such a service, would also be very great, and the time now required by commercial travellers to do business at the various points would be cut down by half. The cost to the railway company would be trifling, and the circumstances being as they are, the increased accommodation would result in increased profit to the company.

It may seem a large order to ask for a twice-a-day service on a branch where there is only a daily service on the main line, but the business need exists, and the opportunity for profit both to the railway company and the country also exists.

RESULTS OF THE DEPUTATION

There has been some misunderstanding in Edmonton concerning the action of the recent delegation to Regina protesting against Strathcona including river lots 17 and 19 in its municipal boundaries. On this delegation Mayor Short represented the property holders. Donald Ross is in receipt of a communication from Regina saying that the prayer of the Edmonton petitioners had been granted. Edmonton city council now has to give the Strathcona council one month's notice of its intentions to take steps to urge the Northwest Territories to redivide the section in the last session allowing Strathcona to include these two lots in their boundaries. Both sides of the case will then come up for discussion at the next session of the legislature. Councillor Gallagher, the delegate to Regina, and one of the largest property holders in the disputed section, is of the opinion that these lots will be included in Edmonton's boundaries.

MUNICIPAL MEETING

Mayor Short Outlines a New System of Municipal Government by Commissioners.

The municipal meeting held in Robertson Hall on Wednesday evening, was a very largely attended one, the hall being well filled with ratepayers. Mayor Short and Councillors Gallagher, Cushing and Helmich were on the platform.

Mayor Short announced the purpose of the meeting, the annual account giving. He referred to the financial statement of the town as published in Tuesday's daily issue of the Bulletin. As each councillor is a chairman of a committee, he called on the councillors present, Cushing, Gallagher and Helmich, to give an account of the work done by their committees.

Councillor A. T. Cushing, as chairman of the Finance committee, first dealt with the assessment. There had been a certain amount of private criticism directed at the council for the great advance in the municipal assessment. He believed the action of the council to be fully justifiable. There had not been any more appeals than on previous years. The great difference is due to the fact that last year's assessment was not advanced as far as it should have been. It is a better thing for the town to have the assessment advanced than to have the rate very high. This year's rate is lower than Calgary's and much lower than that of Winnipeg. From the standpoint of an outside investor it is a good thing to have a low rate of taxation. Referring to licenses, Mr. Cushing pointed out that this year the amount collected from this source, was a large advance over last year's collections. As seen by the financial statement, nearly all of this year's taxes had been paid. The larger expenditure was due to the increased size of the town and to the various municipal works the town has on hand. Regarding the increase in salaries of many of the town's officials, there was much to be said. Living expenses had increased, as had also the amount of work to be done by the officials. Taking everything into consideration he thought the council was justified in advancing the salaries of men who were doing good work. He spoke of the excellent work of the secretary treasurer of the town and concluded his speech by hoping that good men would offer themselves as candidates for municipal honour at this vital juncture in the town's history, and thus assist in establishing at this point, a city which will be at the forefront of Canadian cities for clean and strong government.

Councillor C. Gallagher spoke of the work of the Health and Relief Committee. In this department there had been an expenditure of about one thousand dollars. He had been a member of the assessment committee and felt confident that their work was just throughout. In no case was the land assessed at more than two-thirds its selling value, and in many cases, land was not assessed at one-tenth of its actual selling price at the time. He endorsed the services already made by Councillor Cushing.

Councillor Beumnick addressed the meeting on the work of the License and Police committee. The present efficiency of the police was a guarantee of the good work of this committee.

Mayor Short followed with an excellent speech on the various important matters that had come before the city council during the past year and outlined new legislation which the council intended putting into practice next year. The Edmonton electric light system was second to none in the Territories. The rates were reasonable. The capacity of the present plant had now almost reached its limit, and the next council would have to deal with the question of procuring another five thousand light plant. With reference to the waterworks, when the system was installed it was not expected that it would pay before five years had elapsed. In connection with this, it had been arranged that none of the borrowed capital need be paid back until the expiration of a five year's term. The water was turned on July 1st, and the year the deficit is only about $4000. There is every probability that next year this deficit will be wiped out, and the system put on a revenue paying basis. Eighty service connections had been laid this year, and to wipe out the deficit, only eighty service connections need be laid next year. There is every probability that two hundred or more will be laid, as numerous demands have already been made for them. It has been impossible to keep up to the demand for service connections, owing to the scarcity of plumbers. Edmonton is now past the village stage. Large sums of money are handled annually and this work should be in skilled hands. The council can institute the work, but there should be skilled men appointed to see that the work is honestly and effectively carried out. For this purpose it was agreed that the town should have additional powers with this end in view. C. R. N. Biggar, K.C., Toronto, has been

COUNCIL MEETING

Council Discuss Naming of Streets—
Sidewalk Construction Will Proceed During Winter.

The regular meeting of the Edmonton city council was held in the council chamber yesterday evening. Mayor Short and Councillors Cushing, Fraser, Grierson and Gallagher were present.

The first matter to come up was that of naming the streets and numbering the houses. A radical change will have to be made in many of the names of the streets, and an expeditious manner of naming them will have to be adopted. It was decided to lay the matter before the city engineer for his consideration and report. J. D. McDermid applied for the position of street numberer. This matter was laid over.

The by-law licensing water dealers charging a license fee of fifteen dollars for each tank, was discussed at length and was finally referred to the Fire, Water and Light committee with power to confer with the solicitor and the watermen, so that the by-law could be passed at the adjourned meeting on Friday afternoon.

The minutes of the last meeting were then read and adopted on motion of Councillors Grierson and Fraser.

Chas. May reported on the inspection of the work on the engineer's residence. All but a couple of minor details had been completed satisfactorily, and these would be attended to at once. Mr. May's report was ordered to be typed.

T. G. Launder, chief of the Edmonton fire brigade, asked that a set of bob-sleighs be secured for the fire team and also a brake for the hose wagon. The request was granted.

Dobson, Jackson, and Fry in presenting their accounts, asked that the five per cent hold back on their last year's work be paid, and that the five per cent hold back on this year's work be also paid. The firm is entitled to the five per cent on the first year's work, and this was ordered to be paid. It was considered inadvisable to pay this year's hold back at present.

W. T. Ashbridge reported having handed over to N. B. Peck several minor details of unfinished work in connection with the waterworks and sewer systems.

Gardner and Dalton requested the payment of the five per cent hold-back on their contract for the power house. This request was agreed to.

The Canadian Northern, and Edmonton, Yukon and Pacific Railway companies were ordered to be notified regarding the assessment of their land and property within the municipality.

Regarding the rates of insurance on the power house, the secretary-treasurer was requested to notify Mr. Richardson, insurance agent, that the rate was excessive. In this connection it was decided to ask the underwriters why the rates for Edmonton had not yet been announced in view of the fact that we now have an excellent fire protection system. The underwriters' association was requested to appoint a surveyor of buildings, who should report on the buildings in Edmonton for rating purposes.

W. H. Ashbridge announced that his work as resident engineer was practically completed in Edmonton. The council unanimously passed a resolution heartily approving of Mr. Ashbridge's services as resident engineer of the municipal waterworks and sewerage systems. It was then resolved that in the event of the Saskatchewan Ave. sewerage system being undertaken next year that the services of Mr. Chipman of Toronto be retained as chief engineer, with a strong recommendation that Mr. Ashbridge be again in charge of the work at Edmonton as resident engineer. The secretary treasurer was instructed to communicate with Mr. Chipman regarding this work at once.

An extensive report on the waterworks and sewerage systems was presented from W. T. Ashbridge. Attached to this was a schedule of all the work done. The amount of the frontage assessment for sewers will be $1.25 per foot. This is spread over a period of twenty years with interest at five per cent. At this rate an annual tax of five dollars will be paid.

Petitions were read for a six-foot sidewalk on the east side of Namay avenue from Eleventh to Seventeenth streets, and for an eight-foot sidewalk on the south side of Jasper avenue, from Seventh to Eighteenth street. The prayer of these petitions were ordered to be undertaken in order of priority provided they were properly signed, or after proper notice had been given by advertisement. The work will proceed under the direction of the Board of Works, during the winter, provided the material can be secured.

The secretary treasurer reported on the matter of water rates charge. Mr. Hunt. An arrangement has been arrived at and Mr. Hunt had paid his fees.

Major Short reported on his mission to Regina. A guarantee has been secured that Strathcona would be compelled to maintain the roads through the lands recently acquired by them on the flats. With reference to Councillor Gallagher's visit to Regina, a report was read from the committee on standing orders, which is referred to elsewhere in this issue.

By-law 228, to provide for the raising of $5,000 to bonus a linen factory, and for granting exemption from taxation for a period of years for the same, was given its second reading.

By-law 229, to provide for raising of $35,000 for the cost of extending the waterworks and sewerage systems within the municipality, was given its first and second readings.

Councillor Cushing reported that the contract for the painting of the housing of the water tower had been let and that the work had been commenced.

A. W. Ormsby asked that on and after May the 1st if he made compulsory for all residences, churches, and halls to adopt the meter system in connection with their electric lighting system. Orders for electric lighting meters will be given Mr. Ormsby as soon as possible. It was further resolved that no person be allowed to cause using the meter, having once installed it.

The meeting then adjourned to meet on Friday afternoon, November 27th, at four o'clock.

employed to draw up a city charter for Edmonton, embodying these suggested arrangements. Under this charter provision will be made for the appointment of commissioners to undertake the executive government of the town. The time is opportune for this arrangement. It starts with a clean slate and there are no present burdens. The city council will say how the work is to be done and the commissioners will carry out the work according to their instructions. The present mode of assessment and taxation is antiquated and inadequate. Taxes should be levied on a land basis. For example, two adjoining lots on Jasper avenue, both without buildings, will be charged at the same rate. Provided one of the property owners undertakes the erection of a handsome block on his lot, he will not be taxed for the improvements he is making as is now the case. This will tend to encourage the erection of handsome business blocks and residences. Under the present system, when a man improves his lot by erecting a fine residence, he is immediately taxed for doing so by having his assessment, and consequently his taxes, raised. All land in a municipality will, of course, not be taxed at an even rate, but according to position and value. When at Regina last week Mayor Short had asked Hon. F. W. G. Haultain his opinion of this method of taxation, and the premier had said that it was undoubtedly the proper method. Mr. Haultain went further and said that it would be introduced in the forthcoming municipal ordinances. The mayor referred to the criticism leveled at the council for the increase of the salaries paid to the town officials. Our salaried officials were experts and it paid the town to keep good men. He believed the secretary treasurer and the city engineer had each saved much more than their salaries during the past year. Although the price of lumber had advanced, this year the sidewalks had been laid cheaper than last year. The charter to be submitted to the people of Edmonton in the near future should get their unqualified approval. The secretary treasurer was complimented on his excellent financial statement. Honesty is the great requisite in a town official. The commissioners should be honest men, of tried ability. He wished to propose the names of Secretary Treasurer D. J. Kinnaid and J. Armstrong, city engineer, for city commissioners. The electric tramway was next dealt with. The recent public meeting had declared emphatically for municipal ownership. The tramway scheme would pay as a radial system. The surrounding districts should be empowered to build and equip a tram line. Each district could appoint a commissioner, the town could appoint one or two, and the government could appoint a manager. Under such a management, the radial system would be an immense success. The mayor quoted figures setting forth the approximate cost of construction, including franchise and right of way cost of a tram line specific. One mile could be built and equipped at a total cost of $11,500. Each car and equipment would cost $5,000. This would make a fair start for each district, and the advantages thus offered would much more than compensate the property holders for their outlay. The system would soon be paying interest on the money invested, as if owned by an outside company. The city now has power to build a twenty mile belt line. The Winnipeg city engineer had advised the Edmonton council to own, build, and operate its own street railway system by all means. When the scheme had been laid before Premier Haultain by Mayor Short he said it was a magnificent proposition and should be a splendid undertaking, which would result in building up the town. It will not interfere with trunk railway lines now heading this way. During the past year the council had given their time ungrudgingly to the city's work. There had been no misconduct. A council must be possessed of a great deal of courage and a progressive council was needed in Edmonton at the present time. The mayor took his seat amid applause.

The meeting was then declared open for discussion. J. B. Bentton thought that the mayor and council should be thanked for their year's efforts. This was received with applause.

Mayor Short has omitted referring to the fire by-law, which had incurred several prominent business men.

Looked at in the light of later events, there could be no doubt but that the measure was an excellent one.

Saratoga town council had gone further than Edmonton and had extended the fire limits to include the whole of the block bordering on the main street.

Jas. McLeod raised the question of the excessive assessment of some of his lots in the extreme east end of the municipality. This produced some discussion regarding the relative value of the lands in question.

J. H. Picard asked if the municipal work had been any better done under the guidance of a city engineer than it had formerly been done. He thought the sidewalks should not follow the lay of the land. He wanted to know if other Western Canadian towns had municipal government by commissioners. He advocated municipal ownership of the street railway system, but that outside proposals with restrictions added should be heard.

Mayo Short followed and answered Mr. Picard's questions. The sidewalks have been built cheaper this year than in previous years. If municipal government by commissioners is a good thing, why wait for other towns to try it? Edmonton is well qualified to lead.

H. C. Taylor brought up the question of street lighting. There are no lights on Fifth street and a number have been installed on Sixth Street. The mayor stated that the petition for a light on Fifth street had come in after the regular street lighting system had been arranged for.

The meeting then closed without further discussion.

BEAVER LAKE EAST

A farmers' institute meeting was held in the Presbyterian church here on the evening of the 11th. Mr. F. W. Fane was chairman. An essay on the horse was read by F. W. Fane, and one on grain growing at Beaver Lake East by Mr. J. E. Steele. The judges, Messrs. Dan McCullum, David Watson and Jno. D. McAllister awarded the first prize to Mr. Fane. In addition to the foregoing, Miss Debby gave two organ solos and Miss Watson two solos on the dulcimer. Both did very well indeed. Mr. Fane sang a comic song in his characteristic style. There were a couple of other songs also. God Save the King brought the meeting to a close. The attendance was fair.

The following buildings have been erected by the settlers during the past summer and fall. Messrs. Jas. A. Stewart, Malcolm McCullum and A. W. Watson, new houses; Dan McCullum, pigery and machine shed; J. McCullum, sr., granary and stables; W. Wilson, stables; Henry Debby, granary. A large amount of good wire fencing was also put up by many settlers. There has been an advance pretty much all along the line.

Early, indeed, the threshers must be moving in the morning, and it certainly isn't "early to bed" with them. They will cheerfully endorse the following line of the poet:

"Blest be the man who first invented sleep!"

So Sancho Panza said, and so say I: But curse the man, with curses loud and deep,

Who first invented and went around advising

That artificial cut-off—early rising."

STREET RAILWAY FRANCHISE

Montreal, Nov. 16.—The city council at its meeting this afternoon disposed of the application of the Montreal Street Railway Company for an extension of its franchise for thirty years. The company's application under the conditions offered was rejected by a vote of 26 to 6. The company's present franchise has still nineteen years to run and the company wanted an extension for thirty years, or practically fifty years' franchise.
